Hastee Pay win 'Mobile project of the Year' at prestigious Digital Technology Leaders Awards 2018

Hastee Pay, the London based fintech that promotes financial wellbeing through on-demand payment, is delighted to have been awarded Mobile Project of the Year at the Digital Technology Leaders Awards 2018. The prestigious award saw Hastee Pay come top of a shortlist that included 10 other nominees.

Judged by a panel of experts from the Digital Technology industry, the award recognises the most superior examples of excellence in the sector of mobile applications.

The entry for the award is based upon Hastee Pay's mobile app that allows employees access to earned pay before the traditional payday. This provides a solution to using alternative, riskier methods of short-term finance and is all done in the efforts of improving employee engagement and wellbeing.

"We are extremely proud of this achievement" said CEO of Hastee Pay, James Herbert. "The award shines a light on all the hard work that the whole team has put in and we are looking forward to changing how people get paid and empowering earners."

About Hastee Pay

Hastee Pay is an award-winning app that empowers workers to receive their pay immediately they earn it, increasing choice and financial wellbeing for employees.

Companies profit from the improved productivity, engagement, recruitment & retention of their workforce, with zero cost or impact on company cash-flow.

There is no interest to pay, just a small and simple fee.

Hastee Pay is the UK's first technology solution that allows employees access to the money they have already earned. This cash-neutral solution helps to attract, retain and engage the best people.
